

Parents Role

Our desire is to encourage participation by the parents in their child's education. Our classes are designed to allow the parents to help and be present during the period. We believe that parental involvement will both help the parents stay engaged in the education of their child and continue to grow the parent/child relationship.

Our desire is not for parents to simply drop off their children and leave. We understand that there are unavoidable circumstances. But when possible, we ask the parents to be present and engaged in the education going on throughout the day.

We understand that the parents are responsible before God for the training and teaching of their children, we desire to be an ally of the parents in that life-long endeavor.

We design our classes to have family interactive work throughout the week. To best utilize these resources it is important that the parent understands and knows what is going on in the classrooms at HHC.

HHC is grateful and excited to partner with parents this coming school year. We understand that the success both spiritually and academically this year will be with the Lord's help first and foremost, and second with the help of the parents.
